
Detroit Clean Energy Ambassador Development Program DOE Inclusive Energy Innovation Prize Proposal

Walker-Miller Energy Services is a trusted partner to communities and utilities on all parts of their energy efficiency paths. From material sourcing and procurement to workforce development, program design and implementation, and support services, Walker-Miller works with our partners to assist them in achieving energy reduction goals through an equity lens. These efforts help decrease the energy burdens on local families and businesses, create jobs, diversify the local energy workforce, and serve the needs of low- and moderate-income families with compassion.

A consistent delivery of program goals, alongside high customer satisfaction, is empowered by the company culture. Walker-Miller is guided by our core values and stands out in a crowded energy efficiency services market through a steadfast commitment to being the best operated company in the country for inclusive residential energy efficiency services.

Walker-Miller plans to run a program with two concurrent and integrated components in Detroit, Michigan. The first component is an enhanced Ambassador training program, targeted within five low income neighborhoods in Detroit. The second component is an innovative approach to single family energy assessments and data collection that has shown promising early results in reducing inefficiencies in Weatherization Assistance Program operations, while also integrating the DOE's Home Energy Score.
