

GoGlobal envisions a world where people are happy, healthy, wealthy, well-educated, well-fed, flourishing, fulfilled and living in harmony with each other and with the earth.

We believe technology and innovation can address global challenges at scale which is why it is our mission to mobilize resources to support early stage tech startups to grow, scale and expand globally.

GoGlobal was founded by two women, and this MVP pilot program will put our 40+ years of combined experience in business, technology, capital raising, business development, women's leadership together with our network of universities, funders, mentors, experts, manufacturers, corporates and experience running women's circles together into a Mastermind Program designed as an add-on to extend the life and efficacy of existing accelerators and incubators in our network.

GoGlobal

Our proposed MVP for EPIC is a pilot program geared toward women-led energy startups.

When it comes to women in technology + raising funding, women face unique challenges including the challenges they face as women leaders.

We believe supporting women's unique challenges can highlight their strengths and the way women see problems and solutions differently.

Our goal with this MVP pilot is to not only encourage and foster the growth and development of women-led energy startups through a community where women thrive, but to also shine a light on the unique way women lead and the unique way they solve global challenges through energy technology.
