Brendan Freehart is a Data Engineer at a startup in Washington, DC. Brendan has worked in data science for almost 10 years in industries including transportation, e-commerce, commercial real estate, and food service.

Dan Bernstein is a Research Analyst at the Legal Services Corporation in Washington, DC where he applies data science to the study of civil legal aid and administrative court records. Dan has a background in science, technology, and public policy.