

This innovative research is by an Individual prize competitor titled "Emission Zero" with the name and a professional online profile appeared to be Sayed Maqsood (<https://www.linkedin.com/in/sayed-maqsood-a8b17b68/>). The researcher is located in the city of Alameda, CA.

This innovation solution is focused on reducing carbon emission to create a safer and healthier California for all. The goal of this project is to introduce rapid electric pullout stations along the State Highway.