

HBCU Clean Energy Education Prize National Laboratories Contact List

Updated June 5, 2023

The following national laboratories are open to connecting with HBCUs to discuss options for providing educational resources for the development of Inspire Track academic programs.

Ames National Laboratory

Kelly Bergman, kbergman@ameslab.gov

Argonne National Laboratory

Jessica Burgess, jdietzel@anl.gov

Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory

Faith Dukes, fmdukes@lbl.gov

Brookhaven National Laboratory

Ken White, kwwhite@bnl.gov

Fermilab

Rebecca Thompson, rebeccat@fnal.gov

Idaho National Laboratory

Jennifer Jackson, Jennifer.Jackson@inl.gov

Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory

Joanna Albala, albala1@llnl.gov

Los Alamos National Laboratory

Mónica Martínez-Archuleta, m.archuleta@lanl.gov

National Energy Technology Laboratory

Ken Mechling, kenneth.mechling@netl.doe.gov

National Renewable Energy Laboratory

Tom Mason, tmason@nrel.gov

Oak Ridge National Laboratory

Alison Melton, meltonam@ornl.gov

Pacific Northwest National Laboratory

Elizabeth Stephens, elizabeth.stephens@pnnl.gov

Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory

Deedee Ortiz, dortiz@pppl.gov

Sandia National Laboratories

Deb Menke, dmenke@sandia.gov

Savannah River National Laboratory

Meagan Kinard, meagan.kinard@srnl.doe.gov

Jefferson Lab

Rhonda Bell, rbell@jlab.org